Let's Start!

Rock climbing! Scuba diving! Let's try new sports.

Learning Outcome

Accurately use information about travel and vacations in social situations.

Ask your partner:

- What sports do you play?
- What new sport do you want to try?
Why?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about interests and sports.
- I can talk about my plans and intentions.
- I can talk about what people are doing.

Let's Explore!

Jasmine and John talk about sports. What is Jasmine going to do tomorrow?

* Remember we use "going to" to talk about decided plans.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Jasmine: Hi, John. How's it going?
John: It's going well, thanks. Swimming with the dolphins was so fun!
Jasmine: Yeah! I got some great pictures!
John: I want to play soccer. It's a really popular sport in South America.
Jasmine: Yes, I hear many people talking about it.
John: I can't find anyone who wants to play ...
Jasmine: Hm, well why don't you try something else?
John: Like what?
Jasmine: How about rock climbing? Or water polo?
John: Maybe ... I am thinking about windsurfing. It looks hard but fun, and a great way to stay in shape.
Jasmine: I'm going to go scuba diving tomorrow! I have my license.
John: Really? I'm planning to get mine soon!
Jasmine: Great! Then we can go together.
John: Ok, see you later, Jasmine! Have a great time scuba diving!
Jasmine: See ya!

Let's Practice!

Learning Points

Present Continuous vs. Be Going To

You use the Present Continuous and be going to to talk about future actions and events.

You use the Present Continuous to talk about arrangements and plans. Be going to puts an emphasis on the idea of intention (decide to do something).

Example: I'm going scuba diving. vs. I'm going to go scuba diving.

You can use intend to in place of be going to.

Example: I intend to go scuba diving tomorrow.

Extreme Sports

In North America, extreme sports are very popular.
