Let's Start!

Pronunciation Spot: Time for a Costa Rica tour! Are you paying?

Learning Outcome

Accurately use information about directions to places in a limited range of social situations.

Ask your partner:

- Do you know all the attractions in your area? What are they?
- Should only tourists go on guided tours? Why? Why not?

Can Do Statements

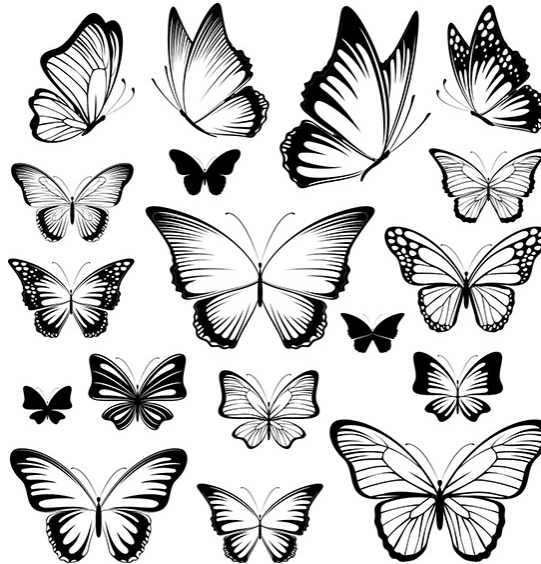

- I can say and use the ow sound.
- I can use proper intonation when asking questions.
- I can identify key information in a short audio.

Let's Explore!

John is leading a tour group to the butterfly farm.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- John: Now, can I have everyone's attention?
- Tourist: Everybody, John has some information for us.
- John: We are arriving soon.
- Tourist: How much is the entry fee?
- John: It's about three dollars US. First, we are meeting the owner for a tour.
- Tourist: How many different species do they have?
- John: I think they have about 80 different kinds of butterflies.
- Tourist: Wow! That's amazing. Are enclosures like cages?
- John: No. The enclosures are huge. There are trees, plants and other animals inside them.
- Tourist: What happens after the tour?
- John: A table booked for lunch at 12. We have free time in the afternoon to look around.
- Tourist: When do we leave?
- John: Be back at the bus at 3 p.m.
- Tourist: Those clouds look really dark. I hope there isn't a downpour.
- John: It always rains in the Costa Rican rainforest.

Let's Practice!

Time to practice the ow sound. Are you ready?
