Let's Start!

Swimming with dolphins! What are we waiting for?

Learning Outcome

Accurately use information about travel and vacations in social situations.

Ask your partner:

- Do you want to swim with dolphins?
Why or why not?
- What other fun travel adventures do you want to try?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about things to take on a trip.
- I can talk about things to do on a trip.
- I can talk about intentions and plans.

Let's Explore!

John and Jasmine are going to swim with dolphins. Is John taking his waterproof camera?

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Jasmine: Morning, John!
John: Morning! Are you ready to swim with dolphins?
Jasmine: So ready! What's the plan for the day?
John: Well, I have the pamphlet here. It says we are going to take the catamaran to the cove first.
Jasmine: Mhm.
John: Then we are going to swim with six dolphins for 30 minutes.
Jasmine: By ourselves?
John: There's going to be an experienced guide with us at all times.
Jasmine: Great! Are you taking your waterproof camera?
John: Uh, no. I don't have one!
Jasmine: Don't worry, I do.
John: Are you going to kiss the dolphins?
Jasmine: Maybe! Are you going to ride on their backs?
John: I hope so! Did you bring a change of clothes?
Jasmine: Yep! What are we waiting for? Let's go!

Let's Practice!

Learning Points

Things to Take on a Trip

When you travel, you usually bring things that help you enjoy and remember the trip. Some examples are:

a waterproof camera (for trips near water)
 a change of clothes (for after swimming) sunglasses
 a hat
 a map
 a guidebook (a book that gives you information about a place or activity)
 a towel

Examples:

• I'm going to Mexico for a vacation. I'm going to bring my waterproof camera and my sunglasses.
They're going to Peru. They're going to take a guidebook and a map.

Talking About Plans and Intentions

You can use the Present Continuous and Be Going To to talk about future actions and events.

You use the Present Continuous to talk about arrangements and plans.

"Be going to" puts an emphasis on the idea of intention (decide to do something).

Example: I'm going scuba diving. vs. I'm going to go scuba diving.

You can use "intend to" in place of "be going to".

Example: I intend to go scuba diving tomorrow.

Examples:

• We are going to swim with dolphins tomorrow.
We are swimming with dolphins at 3 p.m.
